This Week In Science and Education

This Week in Science and Education (T-WiSE) is a video podcast series produced by Virtual Researcher On Call (VROC). The aim of this program is to make the latest innovations in science accessible to students, grades 5 to 12.

The program is disseminated to a widespread audience including students, teachers and the general public. TWiSE is available on the Show and Share platform on our website www.vroc.ca, iTunes and YouTube.

The format of the series is an informal discussion between a Host, Researcher, Educator and Guest Expert.

Host: Kevin Cougler, Executive Director, Partners In Research, Virtual Researcher On Call
Researcher: Dr. Thomas Merritt, Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry, Laurentian University
Educator: Colin Jagoe, Kawartha Pine Ridge District School Board

To participate you will need a computer, webcam and speakers or access to a video conferencing room at your institution. Participation from researchers like yourself is instrumental in enhancing the learning experience for elementary and secondary students nationwide.

To sign up and have your research featured on TWiSE please contact Zoe Letwin, Podcast Producer at 519-433-7866 ext. 21 or zletwin@pirweb.org or fill out the weform online.
